"The Birth of Our Nation's Flag"—Charles H. Weisgerber's great historical painting, is on exhibition in our Art Gallery. This picture tells a story which the young should know, and tells it in such a way as to make the impression indelible.

In view of the approach of Flag Day—next Monday—the painting will be especially interesting to the boys and girls of our public schools.

We would be pleased to have them visit our Art Gallery tomorrow, Saturday, to view it.

THE NATIONAL GUARD

expected on the steamer River Queen, which leaves Washington at 4:30 o'clock and reaches Fort Washington in ample time for the concluding ceremonies of the day. A large bell has been erected at the edge of the camp, near the main guard tent, and it will be sounded for the benefit of sailors fifteen minutes before the departure from camp of the excursion boats. Under this arrangement there will be no excuse for any person being left at camp, as happened on one occasion during the last outing of the guard.

Will Build a Bridge.

Major Gilbert Thompson, commanding the engineer battalion, this afternoon decided to construct a bridge across a deep ravine separating the camp of the 2d Regiment from that of the 1st Separate Battalion. The work will be done by Company B, the construction company of Major Thompson's command, and is to be commenced the early part of next week. The signal tower erected by the engineers at the last camp and still in use, is to be made serviceable as on the day it was completed. The efficiency displayed yesterday and today by the District National Guard has really been a surprise to the public, who expected a good showing. Of course, as might naturally be expected, some slight crudeness has been manifested, but on the whole all the work has been done in a manner which could reasonably be desired. The camp was raised in a manner and with such speed as rendered one of the regular army, and the mounting of the regular guard was accomplished as though every one participating knew his business. The crowning feature of the day, though, was the dress parade. The regiments and separate organizations formed on their respective parade grounds at 6 o'clock and proceeded to the spacious brigade field, where the ceremony was held. Adjutant General Mosher formed the parade, the 2d Separate Battalion reporting on the line first. Other organizations took their places promptly, and the ambulance corps, with its new ambulance, participated. The National Guard Band and the school of the soldier and of the company, so that by next week it will be ready to devote a day to battalion work. Then will ensue engineering work, which is composed of sharpshooters, will do a lengthy term of extended order drill; Companies B and C are going to construct trenches, while Company B is going into the business.

The officers of the brigade are not to be neglected. It was rather conspicuous at dress parade last night that many of the officers of the brigade were in civilian dress. Some of the officers handled the deadly weapon with which a careless soldier might be created in the minds of bystanders the pardonable impression that they contemplated sedition. In view of the possibility of such a happening, the decree has gone forth that the officers of the brigade shall assemble at 10 o'clock on the first morning to be instructed by Capt. Constantine Chase, U. S. A. In the manual of the sword. It is therefore quite a pardonable impression that the officers of the brigade will be more unananimous in the positions of the officers and their weapons at parade rest. When everybody seems to be clearly in the saddle, the muster, the officers' contingent will be turned over to the tender mercies of the inspector general of the camp, Maj. Geo. H. Harris, who will drill the good, bad and indifferent officers alike in aiming, sighting and position movements. This latter instruction will be given to the officers by their respective commands.

The Engineer Battalion.

The engineer battalion will put in a considerable portion of its time today on instruction in the school of the soldier and of the company, so that by next week it will be ready to devote a day to battalion work. Then will ensue engineering work, which is composed of sharpshooters, will do a lengthy term of extended order drill; Companies B and C are going to construct trenches, while Company B is going into the business.

Art of War.

The logical outcome of the course of instruction laid down will make its appearance next Thursday at Friday, parade. The brigade will be divided into attacking and defensive forces. When an unexpected order was issued Wednesday to take haversacks and canteens into camp, a good many members of the guard worried themselves as to what the order meant. It was Friday morning, if all goes well, the force which will be designated as the attacking force will tramp out into Maryland, and the remainder of the brigade will stay on the reservation and the boys will do the best they can to defend themselves. ### An Illusion Dispelled.

Those guardsmen who somehow or another have become imbued with the idea that Gen. Ordway was a sick man were considerably astonished last night when they saw the general ride out at the head of his staff and take command of the brigade at dress parade. They were still more astonished when they heard his order to the commands in the same ringing tones and the same snappy manner which have been the admiration of the brigade and all by-mothers of the guard. The general was distinctly heard at headquarters, nearly a half mile distant. The general really felt much better when he heard his order to the commands in the same ringing tones and the same snappy manner which have been the admiration of the brigade and all by-mothers of the guard. ### Message to Home Folks.

The folks at home have little need to worry in regard to the soldier boys, so far as the department of the interior is concerned. Without exaggeration it may be stated that the mess arrangements are to a large degree more perfect than ever before, and everybody seems to be more than satisfied. We're a splendid lot, as you can see, and we're a big as it ever was, and so says every soldier.

The boys were provided with vegetable soup, roast beef, mashed potatoes and stewed tomatoes for dinner yesterday at supper, stewed prunes, cold canned beef, bread, butter and coffee were served. These articles, the commissary general issued by the commissary general.

It should be borne in mind, however, that each battalion has made an assessment, raising in that manner from $200 to $300 each. From this fund additional articles are purchased, with what are considered luxuries among the number. It is safe to assume that the most served in camp are equal to and as wholesome as hotel fare.

The Daily Menu.

Maj. Neumeier, commissary general, has arranged the following bill of fare for the first half of the encampment; the menu of today is included, as follows:

Friday, June 11—Breakfast: Canned corn-baked salt shad, hominy grits, bread, butter and coffee. Dinner: Baked or boiled blue fish, sugar-cured shoulder and cabbage, boiled potatoes, rice pudding, bread and butter. Supper: Pork and beans, bread and butter.

Saturday, June 12—Breakfast: Liver and bacon, baked or fried potatoes, bread, butter and coffee. Dinner: Vegetable soup, roast beef, stewed tomatoes, cold corn-baked salt shad, bread, butter and coffee. Supper: Hot sauce, cold beef or beef stew, bread, butter and coffee.

Sunday, June 13—Breakfast: Stewed apples, pork chops, hominy grits, bread, butter and coffee. Dinner: Chicken soup, rice, fricassee of chicken or chicken pot pie, mashed potatoes, stewed tomatoes, boiled beets, bread pudding. Supper: Hot sauce, potato salad, bread, butter and coffee.

Monday, June 14—Breakfast: Canned corn-baked salt shad, bread, butter and coffee. Dinner: Bean soup, beef stew, stewed tomatoes, cold pork and beans, bread, butter and coffee.

Looking After the Sick.

First Lieut. B. G. Poole, surgeon of the 4th Battalion, was medical officer of the day yesterday, and he has been detailed for similar duty tomorrow. First Lieut. R. A. Foster, surgeon of the 2d Battalion, is officiating today as medical officer. Capt. Pyle, surgeon of the 2d Regiment, is the post surgeon, while Brigade Hospital Steward and Weller is the hospital steward of the camp.

The following instructions are observed by medical officers of the day:

Their tours of duty commence at 8 o'clock and continue for twenty-four hours.

They report any neglect on the part of the surgeon of the day in his general police.

They make a careful inspection of the quarters, the quantity and quality of food served to the troops, the mode of preparation and the condition of the vessels in which the food is cooked and served, the disposition of dish water and slops; also disposition of garbage.

On the morning of inspection, if the weather is fair they see that all tent walls are loosed, and at the same time observe the sanitary conditions of the tents.
